

Index Data Feeds

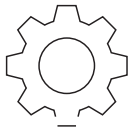

Fully managed data service for the sourcing, validation and distribution of multi-asset class indices

As passive investment strategies thrive, firms' appetite for index data is growing exponentially. From the procurement, integration, validation and ongoing maintenance of external data feeds, the management of index data has become a mammoth undertaking.

Our solution has been designed and constructed to ease the burden of index data management. Pre-validated, normalized data sets are delivered daily via flat file for seamless integration into local environments. Data feeds can also be configured to meet specific requirements for a bespoke, fit-for-purpose solution.

Index Data Feeds are designed to meet use cases including but not limited to:

- Performance Measurement, Attribution and Analysis
- Portfolio Management
- Compliance Monitoring
- Historical Quantitative Analysis
- Data Warehousing
