Liquidity Navigator

Modular, fully-hosted solution for liquidity analytics across the buy- and sell-side

The S&P Global Market Intelligence Liquidity Navigator offers a unique set of tools to support market participants in making more informed price-making and investment decisions, while also helping third parties such as technology vendors and execution venues to assist clients with key insights integrated into the decision-point tools they provide.

Liquidity Navigator leverages our industry leading pricing and reference data services, securities finance analytics, and holdings data to deliver a comprehensive collection of liquidity assessment factors that enable market participants and the vendors and venues they utilise to optimise decision-making.

For buy-side firms, the solution provides risk managers, portfolio managers, analysts and traders with the tools required to assess the liquidity profiles of investment targets.

For banks, the solution enables market-makers, risk managers, traders, and operations teams to understand the impacts of different liquidity factors on pricing and settlement.
