

Sustainable Offices and Recognition

Sustainable Design: All new IHS Markit fitouts strive to be designed to BREEAM/LEED-certified standards. This means that everything from the materials used to the overall design of the space is carefully considered in terms of its impact on the environment. IHS Markit seeks to obtain LEED Silver certification (or equivalent) from the USGBC on all new projects. Since 2014, we have incorporated elements of sustainable design in 33 global offices with the goal to incorporate sustainable design in at least 33% of our projects.

